Me, my son, and my oldest daughter just walked away from this with only scratches and sore muscles...we are more than thankful to the Lord. Blanca has served us so well, but I believe she is done 😞

Thank you, everybody. We are getting checked out in the ER. The pain started to kick in after we got home. Just getting x-rays now and getting a little pain meds. My right elbow is really sore and I am having difficulty straightening and bending it. Other than that we're basically OK. My daughter had more chest pains than I did. I think the airbag hit her pretty hard.
